Chorister hits a Hallé high

By NAZIA PARVEEN

A gifted youngster from Mellor has been selected to join a highly-prestigious choir.

Eleven-year-old musician Thomas Wiggans is "over the moon" to be peforming with the Hallé Children's Choir.

Thomas, a pupil at Oakhill College, Whalley, beat off competition from more than 200 children at the auditions for the choir earlier this year.

The youngster, who started playing the piano at the age of four, has been a chorister in Mellor St Mary's Church Choir for five years during which time he has performed several solo pieces.

He was recommended for the Hallé audition by his former primary school music teacher Julie McGurty, at St Mary's School in the village.

Every Wednesday night Thomas attends training sessions at the Manchester Northern School of Music in preparation for a performance at the Hallé's annual carol concerts in Bridgewater Hall this Christmas.

Thomas said: "I couldn't believe it.

"I'm so happy. I am feeling quite nervous about singing in the Bridgewater Hall because it's massive.

"Singing makes me feel really happy.

"I have always enjoyed it and want to do it all the time."

His mother, Suzanne Wiggans, said: "Thomas is always singing, even in the shower, and it was fantastic when we heard that he had got through.

Thomas 'over the moon' to win place in leading choir

"We were all thrilled.

"He has always been talented musically and would play on the piano when he was a toddler.

"We are very proud of him."

Maria Bland, at Oakhill College, said: "We are absolutely thrilled for Thomas and we are very proud of him and will support him fully.

"He is a lovely young man.

"He's such a credit to his family and we are very lucky to have him here."

Thomas is rehearsing under the leadership of Shirley Court, conductor of the City of Birmingham Symphony Youth Chorus, and will be performing with the Hallé Orchestra, the Hallé Choir and the Hallé Youth Ensemble next year.

Maddi's brave fight

By CATHERINE PYE

Mark and Samantha Allan are refusing to lose hope.

They have been told that their five-year-old daughter Maddi will have one final course of chemotherapy.

The aim is to reduce the tumour in her stomach so that they can operate.

Maddi, of Lords Crescent, Lower Darwen, has neuroblastoma, a rare childhood cancer that affects nerve cells.

Her last chemotherapy treatment at the Royal Manchester Children's Hospital failed to work and now doctors are trying one final course to shrink the tumour in her stomach.

Last week she celebrated her fifth birthday with friends and family and presented a cheque for £4,000 towards the hospital's Five Star Scanner Appeal to charity ambassador and Hollyoaks star Carly Stenson.

Maddi has been made the face of the scanner appeal's 'Quid For A Kid' campaign, and has inspired children and their families at Marshmallow's Nursery, in Marsh House Lane, Darwen, where she used to attend, to help raise £3,344.

Darwen Market traders have also managed to raise another £1,000 by selling a 'Calendar Girls'-style calendar.

Now her new course of chemotherapy is due to start. Maddi's mum Samantha, 33, said: "The last lot of chemotherapy didn't work, so this is her one last chance.

"The doctors don't want to operate because the tumour is wrapped around her organs, meaning it will be very difficult and life-threatening.

"I asked the doctors if she is going to be alright. But they said they didn't know. It's so rare they don't know what to do with her.

"We're in limbo. It's heart-breaking."

Despite her difficulties, Maddi has just started in the reception class at Lower Darwen Primary School and the family are determined for her to live life as normally as possible.

Samantha added: "She's made two good friends already and some older girls have taken it upon themselves to look after her.

"They even gave her a necklace they'd made for her birthday.

"Everyone seems to have taken a shine to her. She is a really happy, bubbly little girl."

Maddi was first diagnosed with a large 'spaghetti-like' tumour in her stomach when she was 10 months old and shortly after underwent chemotherapy which shrank it to a quarter of its original size.

Doctors told the family that although the tumour would always be there, it wouldn't affect her any more. However in June this year Maddi started to complain of stomach ache. And the family was given the devastating news that the cancer had grown aggressively.

The total raised so far by Maddi fund-raisers in three years is £43,500. Samantha said: "It's fantastic and shows just how many friends she has."

The campaign needs £1million for a new Magnetic Resonance (MRI) scanner that will mean tumours can be diagnosed sooner and be seen more clearly. Currently £600,000 has been donated.

Tributes to head

PASSION: Lynn Dunning, who has lost her battle with cancer

By NAFEESA SHAN

A funeral service will be held tomorrow (Friday) for a 'brave and remarkable' head-teacher who battled cancer for 10 years.

Darwen Vale High School head Lynn Dunning had fought the disease since she took up the post in 1999.

Staff and teachers have been left devastated after the former English and drama teacher, who came to Darwen from Woodhey High School, Ramsbottom, died.

Mrs Dunning, 55, a leading member of Soroptimists International, had returned to school in September, but had been too ill to attend a year-six opening evening.

Don Heatlie-Jackson, chairman of governors at Darwen Vale, said: "When we appointed Lynn 10 years ago, we were looking for someone with energy and drive to push the school forward and she seized that challenge with both hands.

"She was ill for some years, but took very little time off and had all her treatment outside of school hours, such was her dedication to the job. It was a pleasure and privilege to work with her."

Gladys Rhodes, strategic director of children's services for Blackburn with Darwen Council, said: "Lynn managed her illness over a period of 10 years in the most private way possible.

"She was determined that it wasn't going to interfere with her commitment to the school. She never complained and worked relentlessly at all times, including when she was clearly in pain and discomfort.

"Even during her periods of sickness, she maintained regular contact with the school and offered staff guidance and support right to the end. She was a remarkable person with an unrelenting passion for her work."

Robin Campbell, head of Pleckgate High School and chairman of the secondary heads group, added: "She was so passionate about her work in ensuring the best opportunities not only for Darwen Vale, but for all the children of Blackburn and Darwen."

Under Mrs Dunning's leadership, Darwen Vale took on the engineering specialism and became a pilot school for the Building Schools for the Future programme.

The funeral service is at St Peter's Church, Darwen, at 1pm.

Bingo on Everest record attempt

By NAZIA PARVEEN

A Blackburn bingo fanatic is in training to play the world's highest game of bingo on Mount Everest.

Mark Simm, manager of Gala Bingo Blackburn, will tackle the world's highest mountain, dabber in hand, in an attempt to smash the record for the World's Highest Game of Bingo – and raise £100,000 for charity.

Mark will be joined by 24 dedicated bingo fans facing the risk of dehydration, altitude sickness and deep vein thrombosis as they take part in the pilgrimage to Everest's Base Camp, to raise funds for hospice charity Sue Ryder Care.

Mark and his team mates, all Gala Coral staff from around the UK, have been taking part in gruelling training sessions preparing for the rigours of playing bingo at 17,500 ft.

As well as long-distance running and hill walking, Mark has been familiarising himself with playing bingo at high altitude by calling and dabbing atop the 400ft St John's Beacon Observation Tower, in Liverpool.

The 41-year-old, who lives in Wigan, said: "It seems a bit daft, but if we're going to do this challenge properly we need to be prepared so, apart from the high altitude bingo practice, I've also been playing double-speed bingo games to keep my mental faculties sharp because at 17,500ft, your thinking really slows down.

"This trek is a once-in-a-lifetime challenge for me and what keeps me going is the thought of standing on Base Camp, dabber in my hand, knowing that I'll be raising vital funds for Sue Ryder Care."

Simon Longbottom, managing director of Gala Bingo, said: "I am incredibly proud of Mark and the team. I'm even prouder that we'll be raising money for the excellent work of our nominated charity, Sue Ryder Care."

The trek will begin at Lukla on October 19 and finish at Everest Base Camp on October 24. To make a donation visit http://www.galacoralevereesttrek.co.uk

Plan for animal petting farm

FAMILY ATTRACTION: Heath Kershaw with his alpacas which would form part of the farm park at Davyfield Farm, Roman Road, if the application is approved

A new petting farm is planned for Darwen.

Heath Kershaw, 38, and his wife Kathryn, 31, have submitted a planning application to Blackburn with Darwen Council to convert buildings at Davyfield Farm, Roman Road, to a farm park and alpaca centre.

The couple already run a mobile farm, Wellybob's Roadshow, which visits nurseries, schools, private parties and retirement homes. During the mobile visits, people get to interact with a variety of animals, such as goats, ponies, pigs, alpacas, rabbits and guinea pigs.

If the council approves the plans, the farm will be transformed into an all-weather educational and recreational centre.

There will also be a cafe and shop selling garments and products created from the resident herd of alpacas, which have been breeding for five years.

The plans come in the wake of dozens of children falling ill from suspected E-coli outbreaks at petting farms in Surrey, Devon and Nottingham.

Leading bacteria experts have called for a ban on young children touching farm animals.

However, Mr Kershaw said: "It's an awful thing that's happened down south, but I don't think all the facts about it are with us yet. I think it's highly unlikely that 50 children have got ill from touching animals. I think it's far more likely to have come from a food source.

"But we are working with the health organisations and have installed a mobile handwashing unit in the mobile farm. When the farm park opens there will be lots of handwashing stations, and publicity instructing parents."

The project would create 10 short-term construction jobs, and 16 permanent jobs.

Mr Kershaw hopes to open the park by next Easter.

WHAT'S THE DIFFERENCE BETWEEN SPECSAVERS' HEARING AIDS AND OUR MAIN COMPETITORS'?

ACCORDING TO RESEARCH ANYTHING UP TO £2,600

At Specsavers, we know that most people who suffer from hearing loss do so in both ears. We also know that wearing one hearing aid when two are required could still leave you with problems, but some companies charge so much that buying two is prohibitively expensive.

We've changed all that, with two hearing aids for the price of one.

That means we offer outstanding value for money. Independent research shows that Hidden Hearing charges on average £3,869 and Amplifon on average £2,528 for two hearing aids, which would cost just £1,195 for comparable products at Specsavers.

You'll also benefit from professional advice from a Hearing Aid Audiologist, the latest digital technology, free fitting and aftercare, and 2 years' warranty.

Battling student honoured at awards

A 20-year-old student who suffers from a chronic bowel disease has battled her condition to complete her studies.

Catherine Metcalfe, of Riding Barn Street, Church, was given a commendation at Blackburn College's Further Education Awards.

BRAVE: Catherine

Catherine was presented with an Outstanding Achievement Award for successfully completing a Level 2 Childcare Apprenticeship while battling Crohn's disease.

She has fought against tiredness and abdominal pain that, at times, was so severe she was unable to work to complete studies.

Catherine said: "I've found it very challenging and frustrating, but I was determined I would get my qualification."

Dedicated Catherine was first diagnosed with Crohn's disease three years ago when she was studying for a National Diploma in Media Studies and, despite struggling with pain and exhaustion, managed to successfully complete the course.

Due to her health issues she cannot go into the next academic year of the course.

Class act Violet, 75, gains degree

By KATE TURNER

A Pendle councillor has proved she is first class – by completing a degree at the age of 75

Violet Vaughan has become the oldest student at Blackburn College to pass a foundation degree.

Violet, a Boulsworth ward councillor, who lives in Colne, recently received a letter saying she had passed with commendation a two-year foundation degree.

After finding a love for academia, she has now set her sights on undertaking another year of study to gain a full BA honours degree.

Violet, as well as being the oldest person to complete a foundation degree, is also the oldest person to undertake the foundation degree public services course.

While on the course, Blackburn College said that she has thrown herself into everything, calling her a 'human dynamo', who has been on trips to Prague and Alton Towers with the college. Sue Skipper, Foundation Degree in Public Services Course Leader at Blackburn College, said: "Violet has really put many people to shame in how she's got involved in the course.

"She's been on trips to Prague and Alton Towers and has really relished returning to higher education.

"She is extremely independent and has been a great student to teach over the past years. Violet has been studying on a Foundation Degree and, due to her role as a councillor for Pendle Borough Council, she has been able to use her time there as the work experience and placement part of the Foundation Degree."

Ian Clinton, Blackburn College principal, said: "At University Centre at Blackburn College we have many mature students like Violet. They are proof that it's never too late to stop studying. In many ways, if you are a mature student studying at University Centre at Blackburn College is ideal as we have many support mechanisms."

HIGHER AND HIGHER: Violet Vaughan now has her sights set on a full BA honours degree

CENTENARY WALK: Hundreds of people climb to the top of the Coppice

Procession re-enacted

By SAM CHADDERTON

Hundreds of walkers helped recreate the moment part of a park was handed to the people of Accrington 100 years ago.

The Coppice Celebratory Procession, last Saturday, saw around 300 people parade to the top of the Coppice at Peel Park.

They then recreated the handing over ceremony, with actor Baxter Williams playing JC Lupton, the Mayor of Accrington in 1909 who accepted the land from William Peel, on behalf of local people.

Coun Lynn Wilson, cabinet member for parks, arts and leisure, made a speech about the rich history of Peel Park.

She said: "I recalled the activities that have taken place during the 100 years and expressed our gratitude to the Peel family. The children from Peel Park Primary School were wonderful. Their poems choked me up.

"And the re-enactment of the handover of the park was a really nice touch. It was a fun day mixed with nostalgia – the right combination."

Musicians accompanied the 45-minute climb to the top, and ongoing improvements to the pathways enabled disabled people to also take part.

Coun Wilson said continuing to improve accessibility was next on the agenda for Peel Park. She said: "We hope to eventually have it recognised as a national park and earmark designated walkers routes."

In September 1909, 5,000 local schoolchildren, bands and civic dignitaries made the same walk to the top of the Coppice.

The celebration, organised by the Green Spaces Forum and Hyndburn Council, with funding from Awards for All and Grassroots Grants, is the latest event in an ongoing £1million improvement scheme – led by Lancashire County Council's Remade team.

Try autumn room revamp

ADVERTISEMENT FEATURE

As autumn arrives, it might be that giving your home a new, cosy look is on the agenda.

An inexpensive way of giving rooms a facelift could be to choose some new window coverings, although getting the right ones can sometimes be a confusing decision.

For today, there's so much choice regarding what to select, be it curtaining, or blinds, or even made-to-measure shutters a cost effective option now, and a whole array of colours, designs and fabrics.

Shutters just ooze style and sophistication, which is often what homeowners are after in the bathroom. White shutters work particularly well as they complement the sanitary ware and suit modern, or traditional, styling alike due to their simplicity.

The current trend for living rooms is Roman blinds, as they benefit from the fabric finish and can also be used to cover cushions, so the overall theme is continued through the soft furnishings.

The bedroom is one of the most versatile rooms for window coverings, as you can choose from sleek and simple, to elaborate and 'boudoir'. You can choose netting as one layer, or a blind, topped by floaty curtaining as a second.

Pinoleum, or wood weave blinds are perfect for conservatories, as are vertical blinds. Pinoleums deliver a light airy feel, while providing excellent shade from sunlight; and the versatility of verticals means the amount of light – and heat – coming in through the window can be easily controlled without losing the view.

Wooden venetian blinds can perfectly co-ordinate, or contrast, with wooden flooring and furniture, and work with modern or classically-designed studies.

As evenings get darker, it might be a good idea to invest in some new lighting, such as feature lamps and chandeliers.

If time and money are limited, you can transform the look of your home with some other quick, cost-effective solutions, such as sprucing up gloomy walls and tired furniture with some of the many paint formulas now widely available. Instead of emulsion and gloss paints, use different paint finishes such as textured, metallic, pearl and glittered paints.

TRIBUTE: Pat's ex-colleagues joined Pat and Dave for the last leg into Robin Hood's Bay, particularly poignant as the plan had been for Adam, right, to meet his parents and take them home

Memorial walk for Adam

By CATHERINE PYE

Family and friends of Adam Rogers, killed on a night out in Blackburn, have completed a coast-to-coast walk in his memory.

Adam, 24, of Dukes Brow, Blackburn, died on July 5 after an alleged attack near the Gladstone memorial, in Northgate, Blackburn.

His parents, Pat and Dave Rogers, had been planning to walk from St Bees, in Cumbria, to Robin Hood's Bay, in North Yorkshire, before his death, to celebrate Pat's retirement from St Mary's College.

Rather than cancel, they decided it would be a good way to raise money for a memorial to Adam. The couple set off on Tuesday, September 1 and finished the 192-mile journey on Friday, September 18, supported by 50 of Adam's friends on two stretches from Grasmere to Patterdale, and Patterdale to Bampton Grange.

All of the group wore special T-shirts bearing Adam's picture and the words 'Walk for Adam' and 'Only For You Podge'.

Dave said: "It was a very moving and lovely thing for them to do. There were a few people who weren't used to walking, but there was no moaning, or groaning, at all. The spirit was fantastic.

"One of the group brought along a hot air lantern that they set off after a barbecue into the night sky for Adam. That was very nice and there was lots of time for reflection as we walked."

Some of Pat's former colleagues joined them for the last leg of the journey into Robin Hood's Bay.

● A boy, 16, has been charged with manslaughter in connection with Adam's death and has appeared in court.

Citizen Time

Melinda is live and dangerous

CAN YOU TELL ME A BIT ABOUT LIVE FROM STUDIO FIVE?
It's a live chat show that is really about what's happening in the world, but with a strong entertainment feel to it. It's hosted by myself, Ian Wright and Kate Walsh, and we talk about what's going on in the news and our thoughts and feelings about it. There will also be reports on the latest films and new bands that are about, so it should be quite lively and different to anything else around at the moment.

BECAUSE YOU'RE VOICING YOUR OWN OPINIONS, DO YOU ENVISAGE ANY FIGHTS BREAKING OUT BETWEEN YOU AND YOUR CO-PRESENTERS?
There's a high risk of bodily harm. We've been running through practice runs, and if we get onto a subject we all care deeply about we do have to rein ourselves in at times. But I think that's one of the nicest things about it, that we're free to say exactly how we feel. There's also a dangerous element to it as you never know quite how far you're allowed to go.

YOU FIRST CAME TO THE NATION'S ATTENTION AS A GLAMOUR MODEL - HAS THAT HINDERED YOUR CAREER AS A TELEVISION PRESENTER?
I would say it definitely hasn't helped. But I've been doing television for the last 10 years and I've got to do some shows that I really love, so in that sense it hasn't. But I do think I've had to work twice as hard as anyone else because there's a lot of prejudice. People think, 'She's a glamour model so she's this type of person', so I've always had to battle that sort of prejudice.

FIVE MINUTES WITH ... MELINDA MESSENGER

Former glamour model Melinda Messenger co-hosts new TV show Live From Studio Five on Channel 5 with ex-footballer Ian Wright and The Apprentice runner-up Kate Walsh.
The Swindon-born 38-year-old now has three kids and lives in Warnborough with her husband Wayne Roberts.

Helping of Porridge

By CAROLINE DUTTON

He's been a postman, worked on the wines and spirits aisle at Safeway and, most famously, played lovable buffoon Barry Evans in EastEnders.

Now actor Shaun Williamson has turned his attention to the theatre in the first-ever stage production of Porridge, coming to Blackpool next week.

Shaun plays Fletcher, the character made famous by Ronnie Barker. And it's his dream role.

"I used to watch the show religiously every week with my dad in the mid '70s," he said.

"Then the next day at school me and my mates would come out with all the lines because they were always a bit naughty. We loved it."

The iconic prison comedy will run at Blackpool Grand Theatre from October 5 to 10.

It's the first time the smash-hit TV sitcom has been brought to the stage, with the production penned by original writers Dick Clement and Ian La Frenais.

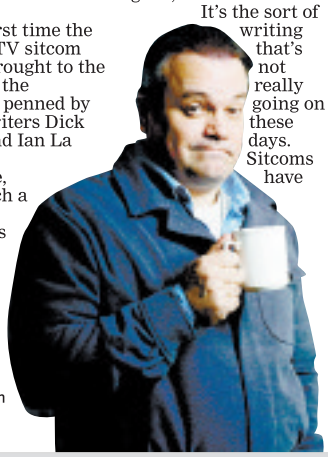
Of course, playing such a well-loved character is a big responsibility.

"It is a responsibility, but a great part is a great part," said Shaun. "You just have to do your own thing really. We trusted that the script would be good, and it's terrific.

It's the sort of writing that's not really going on these days. Sitcoms have changed and this is from the golden age of sitcoms.

"It stood the test of time. It is difficult though. You almost try to do an impression without doing an impression. You've got to stay in the area of Ronnie Barker because otherwise the audience would be disappointed."

Well-known for his role as Barry Evans in EastEnders (1994-2003), Shaun Williamson got into acting late after joining an amateur dramatics group.



DREAM ROLE: Shaun Williamson in Porridge

Its not easy please understand by Smokey Sam
I've been smoking for 30 years check my healthy tongue,
And whatsmore dear doctor,there's nothing wrong with my lung.
The walk to the tobacco store keeps my muscles in tone,
I think passive smoking is outrageous they should all buy their own.
Smoking cures weight problems removes fat from your hips,
Makes you look older,shrivells the skin on your lips.
Giving up smoking is simple I've done it thousands of times.
I love all you non-smokers,more for me and it rhymes.
When I read about the effects of smoking my heart was bleeding,
Horrified by these negative words I had to give up reading.
The room smell of not having been smoked in,
I lit up my cigar, soon everyone was choking.
Having smoking and non-smoking sections who were we trying to fool,
Like having urinating and non-urinating sections in a swimming pool.
If smoking is not permitted in heaven I don't want to go.
People are so rude to smokers,prefer to go below.
I have overcome my will-power and have taken up smoking again.
The nicotine patches did help and now I'm down to ten.
Its not easy ,please understand,
Something inside me, puts nicotine in command.
Sticks of death and pipes of poison are certain to bring you grief.
Don't let your life be taken early by this tobacco thief.
